CONNECT WITH YOUR COLLEAGUES THROUGH DISCUSSION LISTS

Have you explored AALL's online discussion lists? By signing up for these e-mail forums, you can communicate with other AALL members and legal information professionals. AALL maintains more than 100 discussion lists for all AALL committees, chapters, special interest sections, caucuses, and general topics. Most of these lists are closed to their members only, but many are available to the general membership.

Visit the AALLNET Online Discussion Center at <http://share.aallnet.org/read/> to see all the current discussion forums, subscribe to those that are open, and access your personal account if you already are a subscriber.

More Spectrum Content Online

Be sure to visit the AALL Spectrum page on AALLNET for new Web-only content: www.aallnet.org/products/pub_spectrum.asp. Here we post extra material that we couldn't fit into the magazine, such as more responses to "Member to Member" questions, more photos for certain articles, handouts from programs, and more.

You can find the Web-only content when you click on the link to individual issues under "Volume Twelve." For past volumes, click on the "AALL Spectrum Archives" link. Check it out today!
